

PROMISES OF GERMANY TO BE RENEWED

SURANCES ARE FORTHCOMING THAT UNARMED LINERS WILL NOT BE ATTACKED WITHOUT WARNING.

TO DISCUSS ARMAMENT

Question of What Constitutes An Armed Merchantman May Be Subject of Further Negotiations.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Confidential advices from Berlin today indicate that Germany soon will inform the United States that her previous assurance that unresisting liners will not be attacked without warning, holds good for future submarine operations, provided, however, that such liners do not carry armament.

May Discuss Armament.

The German government will contend, the advices state, that what is now characterized as defensive armament, really is offensive armament when submarines are concerned, and will propose discussion with the United States of what defensive armament may be.

As none of the British and French liners now clearing from American ports carry any guns whatever, such assurances from Germany will be in the nature of reassurances for the safety of the neutrals they carry, even under the terms of the new submarine agreement.

How far such assurances will go toward meeting the state department's objection that the Lusitania agreement, as at present drawn, applies only to the past and not to the future, probably only can be determined when they are formally laid before Secretary Lansing.

Expect Assurances Soon.

When the assurances are to be expected from Berlin, were not disclosed, but it is believed they will arrive here within the next few days. There was no intimation that the date set for the opening of the new campaign March 1, will be postponed, although that is regarded as a remote possibility.

There were no intimations from officials quarters today that the United States would not permit the negotiations over the general subject of armed ships to be drawn out indefinitely.

Unarmed Ships at Issue.

In recording assurances regarding the future conduct of submarine warfare, which first were given in notes from Count Von Bernstorff in the Arabic case last September, it is considered probable that the German government will state that in all the negotiations it has been proceeding under the assumption that unarmed liners only were the issue, and that it had always understood that the question of armed merchantmen did not enter.

WIRELESS MESSAGES URGE PREPAREDNESS

Amateur Radio Operators in Convention at Rock Island Send Out Appeal to State and City Officials.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—The message sent by wireless to governors of states and mayors of large cities at eleven o'clock last night from Davenport, Ia., as a demonstration of the radio preparedness of the country's 25,000 licensed amateur stations, reached the eastern part of the country through various relays, according to advice received here today. On account of a number of relays, it required an hour and a half to send the message to the Pacific coast, more than 2,000 miles from its starting point. The message, which was authorized by the United States government and signed by Col. W. J. Nicholson, commandant of the Rock Island arsenal, is as follows:

"A democracy requires that a people who govern and educate themselves should be so armed and disciplined that they can protect themselves." The Scouts were on hand today to deliver the message to various executives throughout the country.

PENFIELD SUBMITS NOTE ON PETROLITE

Austrian Foreign Office Promises Prompt Reply Regarding Attack on American Tank Steamer.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Ambassador Penfield has cabled today that he had presented the American note asking for an investigation and explanation of the attack on the American tanker Petrolite, near Alexandria, several weeks ago, and had been promised a prompt reply.

It was said at the state department the reply probably would give basis for further negotiations.

London, Feb. 22.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says James W. Gerard, American ambassador to Germany, broke his collar bone while skiing yesterday near Munich, and also injured his left side. It is said his injuries are not serious.

FORMER IOWA MINISTER ENDS LIFE BY SHOOTING

By ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Emmenburg, Ia., Feb. 22.—The Rev. M. H. Fry, former pastor of the Congregational church here, is dead in his home here today, a suicide by shooting. Yesterday he told a friend he wanted to see the village undertaker when the undertaker arrived he found the minister dead.

LA FOLLETTE BACK FOR BIG GATHERING AT MADISON TODAY

Senator Returns from Washington to Attend Conference and Banquet of His Followers.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., Feb. 22.—Senator La Follette's office was the center of interest today. The senator arrived from Washington at 1:30 o'clock this morning and went immediately to the residence of his brother-in-law, Judge R. G. Siebecker. He came to his office early this morning for a conference with the political manager, Charles H. Crounshaw, and E. N. Warner, who have charge of the arrangements for the conference of delegates this afternoon, and the republican banquet tonight.

Announcement was made by Mr. Warner today that about 300 plates had already been contracted for the dinner tonight. The political lieutenants began to arrive early today. Senator Otto Bossard of La Crosse, one of the republican candidates for governor, arrived last evening.

The conference of the twenty-six delegates and their friends from the different congressional districts will be held in the assembly chamber at two o'clock this afternoon. It will be presided over by Mr. Warner. The banquet will be held at the "Studio" tomorrow.

It is understood that inasmuch as this first will be a campaign to elect La Follette delegate to the national republican convention at Chicago, Senator La Follette will devote his main speech to national issues. State issues will be discussed by Attorney Walter C. Owen, Douglas Anderson and possibly others. It is said here that the speech of Attorney General Owen will deal specifically with the work of the last legislature and with the administration of the present administration. The Anderson speech will be along financial lines.

No acceptance was received from ex-Gov. McGovern and it is said here by his friends that the former governor will not attend. In a statement last night, Crownhart said he was surprised with the unusual interest taken by people from all sections of the state in the organization meeting today.

While the progressives are knee deep in their national campaign for the election of the republican delegates to the national convention is progressing rapidly. Much of the work thus far has been devoted to the circulation of nomination papers. These have been returned with surprising rapidity, many papers being signed and returned in twenty-four hours. A significant feature of this work is the fact that the signatures are the best ever placed on nomination papers. Substantial citizens, among them progressives, are signing the papers which will nominate the delegates selected at the state convention.

Throughout the state there seems to be an idea prevailing that these delegates will represent republican principles and it is becoming more and more evident that many republicans who have been identified with the progressive movement, and still, in fact, are personally loyal to Sen. La Follette, have decided it is time for Wisconsin to assume her place in the councils of the national organization. They reason that to send a delegation to Chicago, which is bound to the forlorn hope of one man, however desirable the election of that man might be, will mean that the state will not be in a position to have much to say in the selection of the next republican candidate for president.

The latest move in the gubernatorial situation was the report that Clinton G. Price of Mauston would be a candidate. It was reported that Mr. Price would be brought out to take votes in the Mauston Governmental election, but he stopped the talk by announcing that he will again be a candidate for district attorney.

A significant move has been made by republicans of Crawford county.

The Crawford County Press, a "progressive" paper, reports an "enthusiastic" meeting of republicans at which committees were appointed to reunite the party there. Reactionaries were forgotten, and a republican club was

ATTACKS PACIFISTS IN ADDRESS TODAY TO DEFENSE LEAGUE

CHILD LABOR BILL ASSAILED IN SENATE

National Manufacturers' Counsel Says Bill is Unconstitutional Assumption of State Rights.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, Feb. 22.—James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, today attacked the child labor bill before the Senate Interstate commerce committee, as unconstitutional assumption of state rights. The association, he said, opposed the bill not because of objection to legislation safeguarding children, but because of the principle of federal control it embodies.

Mr. Emery also assailed the measure as proposing to control production rather than to regulate commerce.

Work on Army Bill.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The army's part in national defense legislation began to take definite form in congressional committee today.

With the house military committee in practicable agreement in an outline of the army bill—with federalization of the national guards as a compromise for the continental army plan, unanimously favored—Chairman Ray was at work completing the rough draft for detailed consideration by the committee tomorrow. He expected the measure would be whistled into shape for presentation to the house within two weeks. Meanwhile the senate military committee was framing its measures for a thorough reorganization of the regular army, with a peace strength of over 150,000. It is understood the house committee will accept the larger army plan of senate providing its scheme for federalizing the national guard is accepted.

Quotes Law in Force.

"Under the laws of 1903 and 1905 now in force, all able bodied male citizens between eighteen and forty-five years of age are declared to be members of the military and liable to service.

They are divided into two classes: those authorized military by service and those liable to service and liable to be called at any time for training or service. The eligible for military training at the present time number 15,000,000. Such a list of eligibles is in no sense an army especially in modern sense of the word, but it is good and abundant material. What is required to make it serviceable is to train under federal direction. It must first of all be a national army in true sense, not a mere collection of state contingents."

Gladden Opposes Armament

Dr. Gladden said:

"It would be well if the money which it is proposed to spend on armament, be used for internal development. The money spent on single dredging, for instance, would be sufficient to duplicate grounds, buildings and equipment of Yale College."

Judge Parker recalled George Washington was an advocate of military preparedness.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The opposition to universal obligatory military service in the United States, declared Dr. David Jayne Hill, formerly American ambassador to Berlin, in an address to national committee of the American Defense Society today, proceeds from sheer ignorance of the facts and of the law.

It is not true that universal obligatory military service is an innovation," said Dr. Hill. "On the contrary, it is distinctly provided for in the eighth section of the first article of the federal constitution."

BAR SLOT MACHINES IN POLICE ORDERS; FOUR UP IN COURT

Machines Allowed After Clean-up Over
Year Ago on Gambling Machines, Prohibited by Police.

Monday the police made a good start in their "spring clean-up" for besides bringing three into court in connection with the raid made on the business occupied by Ira Brown, on North River street, Chief Champion issued orders to patrolmen to that every slot machine that could be construed as a violation of the state law be done away with. The order was to be effective immediately, the alleged gambling machines to be taken off the counter on receipt of the order.

This command follows the arrest of John Angelo and an investigation by the police, in which it was found that minors had opportunity of playing the machines. Most of the stores have a machine in which a nickel is played. Five cents in trade is guaranteed and the player stands to win as high as twenty-five cents in trade. Rotary wheels for nickels and dimes were also named in the order. The only devices that were permissible were "iron salesmen" of penny sticks of gum, peanuts and matches. Patrolmen in covering their beats announced the orders to the store owners and to-day an investigation was made to see if they were heeded.

To Court.

A warrant charging "that a gambling device was allowed in his store" was served on John "Jake" Angelo for an alleged violation Saturday at his confectionery store on West Milwaukee street.

The police allege that they found boys even as young as nine years of age, and from eleven to fifteen playing this machine Saturday night. Angelo when brought before the court and asked to make a plea merely said:

"I got a lawyer." The place of alleged guilt was entered on the docket and his case was set for an examination Friday at two o'clock. He was released in the custody of Chief Champion with instructions to appear on the date named.

Owners of the alleged gambling machines expressed protest today that they be barred, claiming no one could lose money in them. Over a year ago the police ordered all chance taking slot machines out, raffle cards, and there have been few violations of the law since one of these machines. It is held by the police that the slot machines and the trade devices have a tendency to cause a player to play more than he really desires, and the machines only pay an over amount in trade once in five, six or seven times, as regulated. "When these machines were allowed to remain, it was made plain that minors be kept away from them. It appears that this privilege has been abused, and our investigation has been enough to warrant them to be prohibited," said Chief Champion this morning.

Hearing Date Set.

Three were arraigned in court at Monday for offenses alleged to have been committed at the Dorn place early Sunday morning. Edna Wheelock and Stanley Hill, who has been recently discharged from the navy, pleaded guilty to the complaint that they were inmates to a disorderly house. It was recommended and agreed to suspend sentence until after the trial of Mr. Dorn. The two were held in default of one thousand dollar bonds at the county jail, and will be witnesses for the state in the case.

Ira Dorn was charged with "keeping a disorderly house," the most severe charge that the authorities could lodge against him. He asked for a preliminary examination, which was set for the 23rd, and he was committed to the county jail in default of a thousand dollar bail. The charge against Dorn has a prison penalty of from one to three years. Chief Champion said that, in charging that a complainant charging that intoxicating liquor was sold by Dorn in violation of the city ordinance might be made at a later date.

Stopped Romance.

The Dorn place has been booked as "questionable" for some time by the police, and early Sunday morning three patrolmen with the chief raided the place. The Wheelock girl and Hill, it is said, had plans to be wedded on Monday in an Illinois city, but instead of marching up to take the wedding vows at the altar they marched in company of their chief, justice be damned, to lead to the criminal complaint. In place of hearing the wedding bells they now hear the iron door lock at the county jail, for the gentlemen hope that there will be many more gentlemen's nights in the Culture club.

MOORE WILL ATTEND
GOOD ROAD MEETING

County Highway Commissioner Will be Present at Conference Called by Rockford Chamber of Commerce.

County Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore has received an invitation from the good roads extension committee of the Rockford Chamber of Commerce to attend a good roads conference to be held at Rockford on March 2. Road commissioners from counties adjoining Winnebago county have been asked to discuss various phases of highway construction, especially the state aid plan, and to devise some method of connecting lists of good roads between the various counties. The commissioners are requested to bring maps of their districts which will show the completed and projected state aid roads. Aside from Mr. Moore, the following have been invited: E. C. Edwards of Monroe; Alex. Anderson, Polo, Ill.; O. G. Hively, Freeport; T. W. Humphrey, Belvidere; W. C. Miller, Sycamore, and A. R. Carter of Rockford.

THIRTEEN PRISONERS AT THE COUNTY JAIL NOW

There are more prisoners at the county jail at the present time than there have been for many months, the number being thirteen. Three were committed, until an examination tomorrow, from the municipal court. Two Evansville boys, two from Stoughton and four from Beloit, are among the prisoners. In a commitment issued by Byron Long at Edgerton, John Green was sentenced to ten days in jail, and it was noted on the commitment papers that the sentence was not under the Huber parole law. B. M. Oestreich, state parole agent, is expected to be at the county jail today to take charge of one of the Evansville minors convicted of burglary, and parole him for three years.

POLICE GIVE WARNING AGAINST YOUTHS SKATING ON DOWNTOWN SIDEWALKS

Chief of Police P. D. Champion this morning gave notice to the patrol officers to prohibit juveniles from skating on roller skates on the sidewalks of the business district. Last spring the police started to enforce the rules against skating on the main streets and immediately the juveniles stopped. Of late a few of the minors have been skating on Main and Milwaukee streets, and the police give warning that it should be stopped.

RED SKINS PLAYED FORM OF FOOTBALL IN THE EARLY DAYS

Historians Tell Us That Indians Invented and Played Contest Similar to Modern Football.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

New York, Feb. 22.—Although a form of football was played by both the Indians and Romans under the title of Fenista and later Spherosphora, it has been recently demonstrated that the North American Indians invented and played a game similar to the football of early and middle age Europe. In a recent article on the subject, Parke Davis, the statistician and historian of the modern game, writes as follows:

"The first American played football in a well specialized game of which he also was the inventor. Like lacrosse, the Indians played their game of football upon the flat sands. The ball was made of leather, sewn with a thong and filled with moss. The goals were a mile and more apart. The players ordinarily were braves of the same tribe, but upon special occasions the game would be waged between selected players of different tribes, one tribe being arrayed against another.

In these tribal contests the players came in throngs arrayed in war bonnets, war paints and all savage regalia. As the time drew near for the game to begin, bows, quivers, shields and bouquets were discarded, and the Indian, lithe and athletic, stood forth eager and alert. Before commencing play the rival players shook hands and rubbed noses in formal token of the friendliness of the fierce encounter.

Days Getting Goal.

"Our great reporters of three centuries ago tell us that sometimes several days are required to obtain a goal in which event the contending teams would mark the spot where the ball lay at sundown and resume the game at that point the following day. And there was fair sportsmanship in their game, for William Strachey, comparing the tactics of the Indians to the tactics of the Englishmen, and clearly referring to tripping and hacking, says: 'They never strike up one another's heels, and do not purchase, that much, an advantage.' They played for stakes, did these Indians, so high that William Wood is afraid to tell the size. On this subject he says: 'It would exceed the worth of many to relate the worth of one goal, wherefore it shall be nameless.'

Change in Rules.

The enormous idea of the distance between the home plate and first base or between any of the other "sacks" or that which separates third base from the home plate seems to prevail not alone among fans, who generally accept the measurement as 90 feet but also by some ground keepers. This error caused Secretary Heyder, of the National league, a short time ago to issue an order calling for the reconstruction, on account of faulty measurement, of some of the League's playing diamonds. Under the rules laid down for a diamond's construction the various distances are as follows:

Home plate to first base 87 feet and 8 inches; first to second base 88 feet 1 1/2 inches; second to third base 88 feet 1 1/2 inches and from third base to the home plate 87 feet 9 inches. The home plate, or rather the front of it, should be exactly 57 feet 1 inch from the pitcher's box as the official measurement from the intersectional lines which meet at the back of the plate should be 60 feet 6 inches. As the plate measures 17 inches, if the foul line back to front it will be seen that the forward point of it should be located exactly 59 feet and one inch from the pitcher's box.

METHODISTS FALL BEFORE CATHOLICS; ST. MARYS IN GAME

In An Overtime Game the Methodists Lose to the Catholics, 19 to 15.

English Lutherans Lose.

Before a good sized crowd at the high school last night two games were played by the church league basketball teams. The dope of the league had a bad shaking up when the St. Patrick's five won from the strong Methodists, 19 to 15. In the other game the St. Mary's five won from the English Lutherans. The contest between the Catholics and the Methodists was one of the hardest fought games of the season. It was an overtime game, as the score stood 14 to 14 when time was called. It was decided to play five minutes more and in this time the Catholics secured two field goals and one free throw. The Methodists could only add one point to their score.

At the start of the game both teams were confident of winning and everything indicated that there would be a fierce struggle after some time. The Catholics had nothing to do with the Welsh and nothing could stop them from getting baskets. He was the man who saved the game for in the last two minutes of play he made two field goals and one free throw.

Beard was the mainstay for the Methodists in their scoring department. This victory for the St. Patricks puts them at the head of the list with three wins and scores are as follows:

The first of the Chicago Cub players to report for the southern training trip is Jim Vaughn, southpaw twirler, and he wants to take an extra passenger—Miss Edna Debolt, whom he is to marry just before the trip.

The suggestion that Fielder Jones would do well to engage a player salesman to peddle some of his art actually is being carried out by the Philadelphia National league club. Capt. Billy Neal of that club has by personally detailing the qualities of some of the Philly surplus

Side Dope.

It has been rumored around that the Methodists have had a shelf made to put the silver cup on when they win the championship. On the water will be their expectations last night when they were defeated and now the shelf is up for sale, very cheap.

Cassidy still has a good eye for the basket, and the other teams do not get wise to the fact that he should be guarded close.

It was evident by the crowd last night that the Methodist team had a large number of supporters but with all the yell's the team could not make a basket in the last few minutes.

The spirit in the crowd at these games almost equals that at the high school contests.

AMATEUR BOXING TOURNAMENT WILL BE HELD IN DETROIT

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Detroit, Feb. 22.—Early entries for the Central A. A. U. boxing championships, which will be held in this city March 1 and 18, indicate that a large crowd will take part in the various events, with Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago well represented.

The present champions are: 108 pounds, Howard Root; 113, Frank Gardner; 126, Oscar Garber; 135, Frank Karsinski; Cleveland; 145, Cuppy Logan, Cleveland; 158, Julius Schmitt, Cleveland; heavyweight, Gene Ahliquist, Minneapolis. This year's contests will be held under the auspices of the Detroit Athletic club.

"BENNY" JEWELL GOING BACK TO LEAGUE BASEBALL

"Benny" Jewell, shortstop of the Fairbanks-Morse team of Beloit, will not be with the Fairies this coming season, as he will go back to the Rockford Three-Eye League. The Fairies have signed up Joe French, a player from the Peoria team of the Three-Eye League to take Jewell's place. French has had seven years of league experience with fast circuits. Two other infield men are being considered and one of them is Jack Keady, who played third base for the Cardinals last year. Henry Connell will be in the running for the third base along with Kieran.

ILLINOIS HIGH SCHOOL TEAMS WILL FIGHT IT OUT FOR STATE TITLE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Illinois high school basketball teams will fight it out for the championship of the state in series beginning Feb. 24th. The state is divided into districts, and elimination tournaments in the first round will be played at Peoria, Elgin, Joliet, Rockford, Galesburg, Jacksonville, Bloomington, Decatur, Centralia, Lawrenceville, Carbondale and Shelbyville.

PARKER'S MARRIED MEN WIN FROM SINGLES IN MATCH GAME. Parker's married men turned the tables on the single men last night in a match game at the Miller alleys. In all three events they had the shade on their opponents and won the match by a good margin. Nehr went away with the high score honors by knocking over 200 pins.

GEORGE WASHINGTON.

There is scarcely a school boy or girl who can not tell more of the details of George Washington than their parents ever learned. They are teaching patriotism in the schools today, instilling in the minds of future generations of men and women, facts that they will never forget, and no better example of a true patriot can be found in this country than the life story of George Washington.

Born in Virginia in 1732, he was surveyor of the vast Fairfax estates at fifteen, major in the Virginia militia at nineteen, at twenty led a force of colonials to head off the French and Indians in the Lake Erie country. He brought off the disorganized and defeated English army that under Braddock had laughed at the Colonials, a year later, and at twenty-six captured Fort Duquesne and practically ended the danger from invasion by the enemy.

A member of the Virginia house of Burgesses, by votes, not eloquence, he sought to warn England against oppression of the colonies, and in 1775 accepted command of the little American army in front of Boston, and drove the English out of the New England city.

His command of the Continental army during the long struggle for freedom is too well known to bear repetition, but when the time came to lay down their arms, Washington failed an attempt of his officers to make him king of the Thirteen Colonies, retired to his estate at Mt. Vernon, king of the American heart.

In 1787, he was the soul of the Constitutional convention at Philadelphia. As Hamilton was its brains, he accepted the unequal provisions, believing it the best that could be obtained under conditions. His influence obtained its acceptance by the various states and later he was twice unanimously elected President of the infant republic, refusing a third term offered him, to retire to private life, dying at Mount Vernon in 1799.

Today a grateful nation reveres his memory. Today a national holiday is proclaimed in his honor, observed wherever the stars and stripes are flying. George Washington was the man of the hour. The leader of men, as one writer says, "born and trained to be the saviour of his country." Let us ever remember him and learn by his example.

WHO REALLY LEADS?

About this time of year the newspapers abound in leap year jokes. One would imagine a general epidemic of so-called "popping the question" in the feminine world. Whether anything of the kind exists further than invitations to attend leap year dances and other functions may well be questioned.

The old tradition that the initiative in marriage must be taken by the male sex is one of the most striking curiosities of every day custom. It would not be easy to explain it fully. No doubt there are isolated cases where it is boldly ignored without regard to the calendar by women of resolute purpose. But as a whole it is deeply ingrained in the female mind.

In no other department of life's activities is the initiative so closely confined to one side. As between the buyers and sellers of merchandise, it is held to be legitimate for either one to take the first step without prejudice to his position. Also it is equally appropriate for the person who is employed to seek a position, and for the employer to seek some one to fill it.

It is hardly likely that the masculine mind imposed any such law. Women have no doubt instinctively felt that to be attractive they must exhibit a certain coyness. "Familiarity breeds contempt," and "absence makes the heart grow fonder" are two maxims that have deeply impressed the female mind. A woman may be deeply in love, but she keenly realizes that she must not hold herself too cheap. She must somehow give the impression that she is elusive and hard to capture if she would stimulate interest.

Of course the old rule is rather technical. A woman has a thousand silent ways of asking the fateful question with her eyes, while the man is lamely halting and hesitating. The old tradition may give the man a sense of power, but it is an illusory one.

ARE HAVING TROUBLE.

All is not bread and cheese and kisses in the democratic ranks these days. Neither is the head upon which the crown sits resting upon a pillow of rose leaves. One of the greatest thorns in the side of the democratic donkey at the present moment is Claude Kitchin. The concerted efforts of President Wilson, Secretary McAdoo and the Wilson "cuckoos" in congress to intimidate Representative Kitchin, the democratic leader, into supine acceptance of the Wilson-McAdoo program has resulted only in defiance from Mr. Kitchin.

By a series of carefully-inspired newspaper dispatches, the president and his son-in-law sought to create the impression that Mr. Kitchin was likely to be unbossed as democratic floor leader, because the North Carolina will not accept the McAdoo shipping bill or the Wilson preparedness program.

"There is not a word of truth in the statement that there is on foot a movement to depose me as majority leader," said Mr. Kitchin, when asked about the administration intimations. "I have won a victory in the defeat of the continental army plan, and I expect to win others. I shall not change my attitude nor abandon my convictions at the mandate of anyone, and no imperial ukase has any terrors for me."

"Neither do I believe that my colleagues in this body will fail to stand back of me. I am opposed to making ours the greatest navy in the world. I am not going to vote for the navy."

plan as now proposed, nor would I have voted for the army plan." Mr. Kitchin has told both President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo that he will vigorously oppose the McAdoo shipping bill.

STUDENTS WHO FAIL.

Considerable surprise is expressed over the number of students recently dropped from Annapolis naval academy. There were eighty-two who couldn't get 62.5 per cent in class room work. Some argue that the course is too severe. Others say the appointment system is wrong, admitting too many boys lacking the required capacity.

The dropping of a large number of students from higher institutions, is, however, not unusual. A constant stream of the unit is being cast out of the best colleges. It is done very quietly. The young people had come from their homes with many glorifications. They return after dark, "out of health." It's mental indolence, usually.

Colleges and technical and normal schools are in a position to make strict requirements. They are not subject to the limitations of the public schools. No politicians threaten them for cutting off the children of favorites. They are not dominated by hysterical people who often stir up a whole town over the failure of popular children to gain promotion.

About the only motive tending to lax standards in the higher institutions, is the desire for more bigness. This feeling is too common, it must be admitted. To many college faculties size seems the only solution of financial perplexities. Only with big classes, they feel, can they get the advertising of athletic success, and create a body of alumni to work for endowments.

The best advertising is a body of graduates who are making successes. It can be had only by weeding out misfits. Thereby the failures are turned into fields of effort for which they are better qualified. Also they get a shock that is apt to arouse them to life's cold realities.

THE NATIONAL BIRD.

Some of the pacifists have recently been expressing their dislike of the eagle, used as a national American symbol. To their minds, the eagle is a bird of prey, a robber and a thief, arrogant and overbearing. They regard him as unsuited to represent peace-loving, industrious America.

The eagle is of course a military bird. His great power and dauntless courage make him a typical fighter. His pictures displayed on the banners of Ancient Rome gave the battling legions confidence and courage.

This aspect of the eagle's nature seems inappropriate to our national habits. But the eagle also stands for a marvelously clear vision. He rises to vast heights, and his clear-seeing eye overlooks the whole landscape. That is certainly symbolic of our American freedom of thought. Our prosperity and social advances are due to the clearness with which our people have discerned certain truths which the Old World has been slow to recognize.

The Rod and Gun club plans for a monster banquet, not to talk preparedness for the hunting and fishing season, but how to best conserve the game and fish, the song birds and the gifts of Dame Nature, that remain to us. It is a most laudable organization and one to which every lover of nature should take an active interest. It is country-wide in its scope, so no one need feel slighted if they do not receive a personal invitation.

One enthusiast writes the following doggerel about the ice situation: "Now Iceman dear, you must not fear, You'll get your ice, so never fear. You must not fear or swear or fume, That ice is coming—pretty darned soon."

Pretty rotten, isn't it?

That Chicago assistant chef who poisoned the soup, appears also to have spilled the beans on the fire. At any rate he is a prolific letter writer and keeps up with other much-talked-of men in this respect.

Corn growers are being continually warned that they must test their seed before planting, but a lot of them will forget all about it and then wonder why they get no crops and their neighbors do.

This kind of weather makes one wonder if spring is really coming, or has it all been a false alarm. Some way they forget the great snow of the early eighties that arrived in March.

No matter how shattered the cabin of Wilson becomes it will still smell of the grape juice of William Jennings even if Garrison and others do leave suddenly.

Turkey must feel a bit sensitive about those Armenian massacres with the Russian host coming down from Musch to punish them for their crimes.

Pennsylvania has provided itself with a fine herd of ninety-seven elks. No mention of any Moose being brought into the state at this time.

Today is one of the days that the banks draw interest just the same as Sundays and smile while the average worker toils.

The time is fast approaching when every orator "will view with alarm" some question or other of national importance.

minated on the street. The absence of a traffic officer at the corner prolonged the battle, but much information that the police had stationed had informed the participants quite.

The fact that the day is a legal holiday also prevented the swearing out of a warrant for the two men. Store clerks, workmen and employers returning from the noonday meal formed a large and excited crowd at the scene. No information was forthcoming as to the grounds for the strenuous attempts of each to harm the other.

BED MATTRESS TAKES
FIRE AT MURPHY HOME
ON SOUTH BLUFF STREET

A burning bed mattress was responsible for a fire alarm ten o'clock this morning at the home of Morton Murphy, 414 South Bluff street. Firemen threw the burning bed clothing out of the window, taking the quickest and surest means of putting out the blaze. The firemen were unable to explain how the mattress caught fire.

ENTHUSIASM MARKS OPENING MEETINGS

New Directors of the Janeville Commercial Club Plan to Broaden Scope of Organization.

The first meeting of the new board of directors of the Commercial club Monday was an enthusiastic affair and gave indication of a vigorous attention to the welfare of the association's work. The scope of the club's activities will be broadened considerably
during the coming twelve months.
The re-election of President J. A.
Craig was a testimonial to his untiring work and the personal attention which he has given the office of president during the past twelve months.

The members are not unaware of the criticism which has fallen upon the club, but believe those who desire to know the truth can easily ascertain it without any great trouble through the directions of the club.

If the idea could be attained, the conduct of the association so that democracy could be so well established as to take in every phase of the activity of the city, to bring it in touch continuously with all classes, it would sove the problem. Criticism which is just is helpful to any organization.
That which is unjust will find no place where all of the people are directly interested in moving toward a given point.

President Craig's remarks covered some of these points and the future possibilities of the club, and his plans will doubtless include a widening of the club's field for work.

The standing committee chairman are to be appointed by the president for the coming year and will be reported upon at the next meeting.

A letter from the Consolidated Packing company of Madison was read at the meeting which asked for information regarding the purchase of the Rock County Sugar factory. Captain Davidson will be communicated with in this connection.

The Madison Board of Commerce is asking this club for its share in the expense of what is known as the Winona rate case, now before the railroad commission, and Janeville's allotment is $600. The traffic committee have the matter in charge and are raising the funds by general subscription.

The case is to be heard along nicely and if favorable decided upon by the commission will mean a reduction on all eastern rates to Janeville.
At the present time the city is paying same rate as is applied to every city and town from Chicago to Winona, Minn.

An application for the position of general secretary was received, and a letter from a Chicago concern desiring to handle the traffic department of the club was also received.

The Townsend Tractor company of Beloit, which the Builders' Exchange are interested in seeing brought to this city, was discussed to considerable extent and M. O. Mount, chairman of the industrial committee, stated that he had been in touch with the situation for about a month and the matter was left in his hands for further report.

OBITUARY.

EDWIN M. WINSLOW.
Edwin M. Winslow, aged 73 years, a retired lumber dealer, died at his home at 470 Main street, Janeville, on Milwaukee avenue, at approximately 5:30 o'clock this morning from heart trouble and a complication of ailments.
With the exception of the last five years, Mr. Winslow had been a resident of West Chicago and for some time of late has been residing with his son in this city.

Mr. Winslow was born December 25th, 1843 at Moulton, Maine. He spent several years in that state and afterwards came to Milwaukee where he was a carpenter by trade and a lumber dealer.

Mr. Winslow was a member of the Illinois legislature from 1885 to 1886, during the exciting campaign of John R. Logan for the United States senate.
Abandoning politics the deceased became interested in business and engaged in the lumber business at Stockton, Illinois and at Mugawaganoo, Wisconsin. He was a member of the Methodist church.

He leaves a brother, L. B. Winslow, and a sister, Mrs. Francis Mallow, of Hillsboro, Wisconsin. Short services will be held at the home of L. B. Winslow, 1129 Milwaukee avenue, Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock. Interment will be made at Hillsboro.

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

by DAISY DEAN

Tom Moore, the eldest of the "Famous Moore Family" and husband of Alice Joyce, the celebrated screen star, confessed recently that his great ambition was to become a "Jewel Comedian" and in the next breath admitted that he was born in the County Meath, thirty miles from Dublin, Ireland. Tom also admitted that his first five appearances on the stage ended by his being stranded in five different parts of the United States. Lew Taylor, photographed, was responsible for Tom's entry into the motion picture field, and Taylor also introduced Tom to the present Mrs. Moore.

At first Tom didn't care for the moving picture life and after one or two attempts left the "Cinemas" and went back to his earlier love, "a stock company," in Bridgeport, Conn. Fate was not to be thwarted, however, and eventually Tom landed some of the wood and won pretty Alice Joyce.

Tom and his little family have a beautiful home at Ninety-second street and West End avenue, New York, and, as he says himself, "You couldn't blow him out of pictures with all the guns of the united armies of the universe."

SCREEN STAR KNOWS ALL ABOUT "TIPPERARY"

An important film acquisition is F. Lunden Hare, the English actor well known in the legitimate stage. He was born in Tipperary, Ireland. He is the brother of Owen Moore, husband of Mary Pickford, the present queen.

He followed the sea four years before going on the stage. In London he appeared in such important roles as "Jon Hur," "John Storm," in "The Christian" and "The Admirable Captain."

He has also appeared in South Africa and throughout the Orient, landing in America in 1904. Since then he has played leads with John Drew, Ethel Barrymore, Maude Adams and Grace George.

It is a reincarnation story showing the destinies of three persons. F. Beware, ye marry bachelors, And widowers forlorn, This year your doom is sounding, Your safety's laughed to scorn. It is the season fateful, And small use 'tis to rail, When the female of the species Pops the question to the male.

For three years men are choosers, And pick the maids to wed, And maids must be contented If they are left, or led. Unto the marriage altar; But with the fourth the frail weak female of the species Leads the weak and trembling male.

wealthy and respected brother of Donald, for the latter. After several mysterious warnings by notes containing pictures of the sable lorchu, Robert Cameron takes refuge on his yacht, his daughter's lover, Robert Cameron is kidnapped and a Chinaman, known to Chinatown seeking for clews. No Nish is set upon by two Chinamen in front of Robert Cameron's Fifth avenue house and is taken into the home of his brother. Cameron is finally rescued by Clyde with the aid of the police from a basement where he had been chained to a wall while the place was gradually being flooded with water.

Cameron is taken to his home where he sees his dying brother, and the mystery of the many attacks on his life is explained by him in the destruction of the sable lorchu and the subsequent mistake as to the identity of Robert Cameron. Mr. Jefferson plays both brothers.

MARRIAGE QUESTION REVIEWED AT PRINCESS

Julia Dean Plays Leading Part in Society Drama, "Matrimony," and Raymond Hitchcock Cleverly Pulles Over a Keystone Comedy, "Stolen Magic."

Miss Julia Dean, displaying her full beauty and stirring herself in the finest of Parisian creations, makes herself so attractive to such a host of men friends that her husband seeks for his lost affection. Miss Dean finds the triangle picture "Matrimony," shown yesterday at the Princess, an excellent vehicle for her versatile ability. She takes two parts in the story—that of an ingenuous and devoted wife, and afterward, to win her husband back to her, she becomes a complex, fascinating siren. In her attention to her child she shows a beautiful conception of a mother's love and tenderness.

Raymond Hitchcock placed himself into many laughable situations in the Keystone comedy "Stolen Magic." It is a little out of the Keystone run of comedies, spicing a little mystery, adventure and Hitchcock speed into the action.

Both pictures will be shown again at the Princess this evening.

Amusements

(Notices furnished by the theatres)

AT THE APOLLO.

Marie Doro.

All of you who have seen Marie Doro, the enchanting stage favorite, in her initial screen characterization in "The Morals of Marcus"—and the presumption is feasible that everyone has—will undoubtedly be delighted to know that the Apollo has again presented this gifted and beautiful actress on the screen in "The White Pearl" shown for the second time to-night.

"The White Pearl" was especially created for Miss Doro by Edith Barnard Delano, author of the recent Pickford triumph, "Rags," and in it is included every element of dramatic composition that made "The Morals of Marcus" the great photo-production it was, with the added value of pictorial and spectacular effects absent from that production, made possible through the occurrence of half the action of the play in Japan and on the high seas, where the drama reaches its greatest climax.

The Japanese settings, constructed by Edwin S. Porter and Hugh Ford are masterpieces of scenic art. It is amid this exotic setting that Marie Doro successfully and appealingly presents her assumption of the life and manners of a Japanese geisha girl—one of the most artistic and exquisite characterizations ever contributed to the screen.

AT THE APOLLO.

"Lydia Gilmore" Great Play.

Among Henry Arthur Jones' successful plays there are few that have more powerful dramatic situations than "Lydia Gilmore," in which Pauline Frederick is being starred by the Famous Players Film company on the Paramount Program. It is the attraction at the Apollo Wednesday.

In exterior settings for this production we take on one of the handsomest estates in the country, and every phase of the picture has been made to conform with the breadth, power and gripping intensity of the story. Particularly striking are the scenes in the court room in which the distracted mother faces the man whose devotion to her son has won her love and lies to save the man whose infidelity has heaped pain and grief upon her head.

AT THE PRINCESS.

Thomas Jefferson and Tully Marshall.

Around Chinatown and the mysterious and devious manner of Chinese revenge runs the plot of "The Sable Lorchu," the Triangle-Fine Arts production, which will be shown at the Princess Theatre Wednesday and Thursday. Tully Marshall depicts faithfully all the cunning and malice inherent in Chinese character as John S. Thomas Jefferson as Donald McNish, originally Donald Cameron, had blown up a Chinese yacht or lorchu, destroying a hundred yellow men from whom he had gained passage money for America. Two partners of McNish escape being Soay and an Irish adventurer, Murphy. Though failing in several attempts to gain revenge by killing McNish, the pair continue in their purpose and enlist in their aid one of the powerful secret societies in Chinatown. Murphy mistakenly takes Robert Cameron, a Peking, Feb. 22.—President Yuan Shikai, the Emperor-elect, has issued an order that the members of the imperial clan of the Yuan family now living within the forbidden City grounds. This order, of course, does not apply to his immediate family.

The Yuan clan is a large one, and has been well looked after by the president. However, it would be quite in violation of all precedents for him to permit relatives other than his immediate family to live within the imperial grounds. With his accession to the throne, the emperor must draw a sharp distinction between himself and his clansmen, as now they become his subjects.

In China there has been much criticism of the influence which relatives have had on the emperors. Even now appeals are directed to Yuan Shikai that he shall draw the drawing up of the new constitution in such a way as to make it impossible for the women of imperial families to have undue influence upon the emperor.

MILWAUKEE SUFFERER TRIED JUST ONE DOSE

Ben Baching Gave Up Hope Before He Found Remedy—Happy Now.

Ben F. Baching of 659 Louis Avenue, Milwaukee, was a sufferer from maladies of the stomach and digestive tract for a long time. He gave up hope.

At last he discovered May's Wonderful Remedy. He took a dose just to try it. The results were remarkable. He wrote:

"I was in such bad condition that I had given up hope of ever getting well again. I sent to you for one dose of your remedy and took it the same day you sent it. It has worked wonderfully. I took five more bottles, one each week. I am now a new man again. I thank you a thousand times for the good you did me."

May's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

How To Make the Quickest, Simplest Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind and You Save $2. Fully Guaranteed

This home-made cough syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. Its promptness, ease and certainty in conquering distressing coughs, chest and throat colds, is really remarkable. You can actually feel it take hold.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough—relieves even whooping cough, asthma. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, spasmodic cough, bronchial asthma and winter coughs.

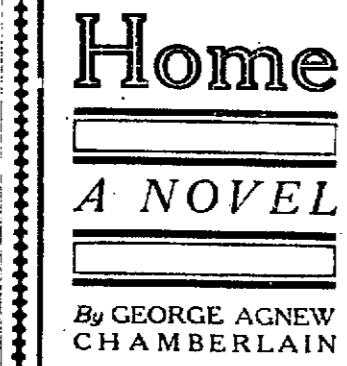

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you—at a cost of only 50 cents—a full pint of better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.50—but a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and doesn't spoil.

You will be pleasantly surprised how easily it loosens dry, hoarse or tight coughs, and heals the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacum, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, be sure and ask your druggist for 2½ ounces Pinex, and don't accept anything else.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, to money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SINGLY alkaline, was plentiful. "A few cows and their progeny lived in the open and lived well, for, even untilled, the lands of the valley were rich. An occasional member of the herd was carried off to market by the old darky. The proceeds bought the very few contributions of civilization necessary to the upkeep of the leper.

Gerry decided. He looked at the girl and she ran to him. He put his arms around her and gazed with a sort of numb emotion into her great dark eyes. Those eyes were wells of simplicity, love, fidelity, but below all that there were depths unmeasured and unmeasuring that gave all and demanded all.

In the mind of the husband who believed himself deserted and betrayed there no longer existed any barrier between him and this woman who had come so strangely into his life. Marriage with her was no wrong to Alix. The last scruples of civilization and of law fell from him like a garment thrown aside and he became the husband of the girl who had so innocently wooed him.

It was eloquent. There was no mistaking her meaning. Gerry was touched. He held both her clasped hands in one of his and put his arm around her shoulders. She fixed her eyes on his face for the answer. Once more Gerry's eyes wandered over all that ruin. After all, he thought, why not? Why not bury his own ruin here in company? But she read no decision in his face though she watched it long. What she saw was debate and for the time it satisfied her.

Gerry all that afternoon was very silent and thoughtful—silent because there was no one he could talk to, thoughtful because the idea the girl had put into his head was taking shape, aided by a long chain of circumstances. He looked back over his covered trail. If he had been some shrewd fugitive from justice he could not have planned it better. His sudden flight without visiting his home, his failure to buy a ticket, the subversion of the purser with its assurance of silence as to his presence or destination, all that had been wiped out by his telegram to his mother. But then fate had stepped in again and once more blotted out the trail. Some genius had heard his wish. The old Gerry Lansing was dead. Even from himself the old Gerry Lansing had been torn away in a chariot of fire.

It was not until the men were sitting alone after the glass of port, in which all had drunk Collingford's welcome to that house, that the judge said casually, "Collingford saw Alan in Africa."

"Eh! What?" said the captain aroused to sudden interest. "What's that about Alan?"

"I ran across Alan Wayne in Africa," said Collingford, smiling. "Do you want me to tell you about it?"

Nance called Charley Stirling out.

"Your shirker," she said, "come and sit with me in the hammock."

"Collingford was just going to tell about meeting Alan in Africa," said Charley indignantly. And then Nance said "Oh!" and wanted to send him back but he wouldn't go.

"Yes," grunted the captain in reply to Collingford's question and J. Y. nodded as he caught the young man's eye. "Wish you would," he said and leaned forward, his elbows on the table.

Collingford was one of those men who are sensitive to men. His vocabulary did not run to piffle but he loved an understanding ear. He looked at the judge's keen but restful face, at the captain's glaring eyes, which somehow had assumed a kindly glint, at J. Y.'s rugged figure, suddenly grown tense, and he knew that Alan Wayne was near to the hearts of these three.

He fingered his wine glass. "If I was one of those men," he began, looking at nobody, "who dislike Ten Percent Wayne I wouldn't tell you about him. But I'm not. It took me only two hours to get over hating him and those two hours were spent in a broiling sun at the wrong end of a half-finished bridge."

"Prince Bodsky and I were on shikari. We were headed home after a long and unsuccessful shoot in new country and we were as sore and tired and bored with the life of the wild as two old-timers ever get. On the day I'm telling you about we were trekking up a river gorge to a crossing. After lunch and the long rest we still had ten miles to go to cross and it didn't help things to know that once over we had to come straight back on the other side. During the first hour's march in the afternoon we heard the strangest sound that ever those wilds gave forth. It was like hammering on steel but we refused to believe our ears until a sudden curve brought us bang up against the indescribable fact of a girder-bridge in the throes of construction. Before the thought of the sacrilege to the game country—before we could see in this noisy monstrosity the root of our recent bad luck—came the glad thought that we didn't have to do ten miles up that gorge and ten back. We would have whooped except that men don't whoop in Africa—it scares the game.

Gazed With a Sort of Numb Emotion.

ly antiquated iron pot, they made the black syrup that served for sugar. Salt, knows something about the sun. He keeps his head in the shade-spot from that lonely palm." And finally: "Collingford, I never despised your intellect before. What are you smiling for? Can't you see what's up? Can't you understand that if a man will stand for two hours shifting an inch at a time with the shade rather than disturb half a dozen niggers at work to go and get a helmet he isn't going to call those niggers off to let a couple of loafers like us crawl across his girder? What you and I are staring at is just plain common garden work with a capital W. stark naked and ugly, but it's great!"

"And right there I saw the light. To us two the mystery of Ten Percent Wayne was revealed. He could drive men. He could make bricks without straw. While work was on, nothing else mattered. Right and wrong were measured by the needs of that bridge and death was too good for the shirkers. And with the light I forgot the brute in the man tearing along the dizzy height of the girder to lash a loafer, and only remembered that he had risked his life to avenge just one moment stolen from the day's work."

Dinner Stories

The visitors to a farm was being shown round the premises by his host. They inspected the henry, the piggery, the cowery, the horsey, and all the other "erries," and the city man was interested.

As they walked along the side of a stone wall he touched his companion's arm.

"There!" he exclaimed quickly, "is that a scarecrow?"

"Where?" asked the farmer.

"That shabby thing in the middle of the field? It must be a scarecrow. It hasn't moved all the time I've been watching."

"It's no scarecrow," replied the farmer. "That's a man I've got working by the day."

"Where is the prisoner?" asked the judge.

SALE OF POISONS FALLS ON DRUGGIST

State Places All Responsibility for Distribution on Head of Drug Store.

The average person who walks into a drug store to purchase a poisonous drug or chemical such as carbolic acid seldom realizes the responsibility the state places upon the druggist in the sale of such articles. Selling poison, but not so forming dangerous chemicals, which includes disinfectants, as well as drugs which might be used for the prevention of conception or for inducing abortion, is subject to state legislation. All states have laws giving the explicit conditions under which drugs and chemicals may be sold. The Wisconsin law, stated in Section 191, enumerates them and states the following conditions: "No person, so far as power less than fourteen years of age, the druggist must learn by due inquiry that the person to whom delivery is about to be made is aware of the poisonous nature of the substance and that it is desired for a lawful purpose. The package shall be plainly labelled with the name of the substance, the word 'poison' and the name of the article, the quantity delivered and the purpose for which it is to be used; the date of selling, the name and address of the person for whom it is procured and the name of the person individually dispensing the same must be recorded in a book especially kept for the purpose."

The Harrison law is well enforced and its transgressions penalized with heavy fines. Just how effectively it is enforced is shown by the many suicides of drug victims following its use. Regrettable as they are, it was necessary to make a start somewhere to put a stop to making of new victims by traffic that was becoming as big as it was hideous.

MAGNOLIA

Magnolia, Feb. 21.—Mildred Carrie McCoy, Clara Davis, Eva Edwards and Ella Woodstock of Evansville, were callers at Mrs. T. M. Harper's Thursday.

The Farmers' Institute proved to be a very profitable and instructive one for all who attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Townsend and daughter of Evansville, were Sunday guests at the former's parental home.

George McCaslin has moved from Albany, and Mr. and Mrs. John Albright will move into the house vacated by them.

Mr. and Mrs. William Letts attended "The Birth of a Nation" in Janesville Thursday.

The revival meetings at the A. C. Church continue until Wednesday night of this week.

The H. J. dinners given at W. B. Andrew's were very successful financially.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Harper and son were callers at the former's parental home Sunday afternoon.

DR. GODDARD will be at the GRAND HOTEL at Janesville, Wis., all day on Thursday, February 24th. Consultation Free.

THE TRUTH--and the PROOF

"WORDS AND PROMISES ARE ONLY GOOD WHEN BACKED UP BY DEEDS."

This axiom is just as true today as it was when Socrates uttered it hundreds of years ago.

And I attribute my success as a specialist, principally to the fact, that I never attempt to treat cases that are incurable, and second, that I back up my claims by absolute proof.

HERE IS THE PROOF:

They Say I Cure Do You Believe Them?

WRITE TO THEM AND SATISFY YOURSELF. Such Proof can not be manufactured or imitated.

Black Creek, Wis., 2-17-12.

Dear Doctor:—

It is with pleasure that I write you to say that after treating with you I am completely cured of Chronic Appendicitis and Gall Stones. Other doctors wanted to operate. I weigh 19 lbs. more than did when I started treatment. I was sent to you by a lady you cured of Gall Stones two years ago. You may refer to me at any time.

MISS MARTHA SCHINKE, R. F. D. No. 33, Box 4, Black Creek, Wis.

TOLD HE HAD CONSUMPTION. Read This Letter. Chilton, Wis., Aug. 1, 1912.

Dr. Goddard.

Dear Doctor:—

In September, 1912, I consulted you at Appleton, Wisconsin. At that time I weighed about 100 pounds and was suffering from shortness of breath and general break down of health. I had been told by a physician that I had consumption and had treated with him without getting any better. As soon as I began treatment with you I began to feel better; my breathing got all right, and I began right away to gain in weight and strength. I have done a full days work every day this summer and am now in perfect health, and weigh 180 pounds, which is more than I ever weighed in my life. I am certainly glad that I came to you and feel that I owe you to you and am grateful to you for excellent service.

Yours truly,

C. A. STARKWEATHER, Beaver Dam, Wis.

Cured of Appendicitis.

Dr. N. A. Goddard, April 30, 1915.

Dear Doctor:—

My daughter who is 13 years old was taken ill with appendicitis about one year ago, and had in all three attacks. I called in two different Doctors to see her, and both said she had appendicitis and both advised immediate operation, but I decided to consult you first. We came to see you at Marshfield, November 25, 1914, and began treatment at that time. My daughter began to improve right away and has been steadily getting better ever since. She has been under your treatment for six months and has never been in better health and I am sure that she is cured to stay cured, thanks to your skill. I am glad that I did not allow her to be operated until I had seen you and I can recommend you to all who are afflicted in a similar way. You have treated my child satisfactorily and honest and I am grateful to you for excellent service.

Yours truly,

Very truly yours,

C. A. STARKWEATHER, Beaver Dam, Wis.

Cured of Appendicitis.

Dr. N. A. Goddard, April 30, 1915.

Dear Doctor:—

Answering your letter of the 20th I am pleased to say that Dr. N. A. Goddard's treatments have been entirely satisfactory. I consider myself cured of my rupture and before taking treatment I made careful investigation of previous cases where I have claimed to have had good results. I have never worn a truss since and have no bad effects or annoyance.

Very truly yours,

C. A. STARKWEATHER, Beaver Dam, Wis.

Center, Feb. 21.—Miss Fletcher attended the teachers' convention in Madison, consequently there was no school that day.

Mrs. Eva Miller is quite ill.

Her sister, Mrs. Boyle, is taking care of her and Mike is keeping "back."

The young people's meeting had a full house last Friday evening. A fine program was given in which a mock wedding was one of the features. A shower for a soon to be wed couple was in order and quite a sum of money was realized.

Joseph Porter informs us that his tobacco netted him within a few cents of two hundred dollars an acre. He had the best around here.

Lars Johnson has rented Hans Norby's place for the coming year and the lucky man has cut five year's supply of logs this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Robertson were visitors at her sister's, in Edgerton, last Sunday.

Will Anderson had a birthday Sunday and a few friends dropped in to supper.

Andria Berg has gone to Janesville for a week or so.

TWO BOOKS THAT WILL INCREASE IN VALUE WITH THE YEARS.

The two books now being distributed by this paper, called "Heart Throbs," constitute the greatest collection of prose and verse ever put forth by any publisher there is no doubt. The value of these two great books will increase steadily the years go by. Our remarkable distribution closes soon, and we believe that most of our readers have been supplied. We urge those who are not, if there are any, to lose no time in cutting out their coupons and getting their copy of what will some day be a very rare book. Our coupon appears in today's paper.
